What Is Entrepreneurship?

OBJECTIVES

- Define what it means to be an entrepreneur
- Compare the pros and cons of being an entrepreneur
- Identify successful entrepreneurs and their achievements

What Is an Entrepreneur?

Someone who creates and runs a business is called an entrepreneur.

- When an entrepreneur starts a new business, risk is involved. Risk is the chance of losing something.
- Because employees work for someone else and entrepreneurs work for themselves, entrepreneurs risk more than employees.
- Small firms employ about half of the U.S. private work force, and they create around 64 percent of all new jobs.
- One way you can gain a sense of what business is like is by investigating an internship, or apprenticeship.

Why Be an Entrepreneur?

The biggest reward of becoming an entrepreneur is the personal satisfaction that comes from having the freedom to make your own business decisions and then act on them.

- Making Your Own Rules. When you own a business, you get to be your own boss.
- Doing Work You Enjoy. Since the majority of most peoples' lives is spent working, why not spend that time doing something you enjoy?
- Creating Greater Wealth. There's no limit to what an entrepreneur can make.
- Helping Your Community. Being an entrepreneur lets you make your community and world a better place.

Risks of Being an Entrepreneur

- Potential Business Failure. Being fully responsible means the success or failure of your business rests on you.
- Unexpected Obstacles. Problems can happen that you don't expect.
- Financial Insecurity. Many new businesses don't make much money in the beginning, so you may not always be able to pay yourself.
- Long Hours and Hard Work. It's not unusual for entrepreneurs to work a lot of extra hours to make their businesses successful. This is especially true during the initial start-up process.
